Keltbray Training has been developed to provide bespoke training services and courses for both internal and external use, on or off site. The training centre in Basildon, Essex consists of a spacious classroom for theoretical training and exams, a practical training area including an asbestos enclosure and a fully functional decontamination unit. These facilities are utilised for our asbestos awareness and asbestos removal training courses. Included in the practical area is a substantial track layout which is used for the various Network Rail courses offered including PTS (Personal Track Safety).

Keltbray Training also operates a well established training centre located in Ashford, Kent. The training centre is accredited to carry out training and assessments to national standards via the NCCA/Sentinel scheme and caters for both internal and external requirements, offering 'off-the-shelf' training and bespoke packages to meet specific client requirements.

The Ashford training centre consists of four theoretical training rooms and a large external railway track. The centre is ideally located for both rail and road access.

Keltbray Training also has the facility to offer On Track Plant and Plant Controller courses at our Horsham Depot.

Keltbray Training has a dedicated team of professional trainers and assessors who have received many accolades over the years for their professional approach and delivery.
